ANOTHER CANCELLED MEETING!

The Washington Community Y Annual meeting was planned for February 9. However, due to cold and snowy weather the meeting was cancelled! This has not been a good winter in Washington with too much cold and snow! Bob and I are hoping that the weather improves by the first part of March for our trip back to Iowa! However, the weather here in Florida has not been much better.....a bit warmer temperatures and no snow, but we have been about 15-20 degrees below normal!

FUN FLORIDA ACTIVITIES

Since I have some space, I will fill it with some of the fun that we have been having down here. Last week, Mike Kramme joined Bob and I on a trip to the Charlotte County Fair! The fair opens at 4 pm and closes at 10 pm weeknights and opens at 10 am and closes at 11 pm on weekends. It runs 10 days! They have one building that is about the size of the old rabbit barn (building north of our food booth) that has rabbits, chickens, turkeys, and guinea pigs in it. Yes, guinea pigs! The other animal building is about the size of our current rabbit building (west of our food booth). It contained 4 goats, about 6 calves and maybe 20 hogs. That was all the animals! There was a mobile home that was the "Arts & Crafts" building. Mike pointed out that there was a display of canned goods — 2 jars of green beans and about 6 jars of jelly/jam! The only entertainment they had were a dog comedy show (for children that we sat and watched) and an animal show (also geared for children!) They did have a big midway with lots of rides. And the food area was interesting — Oxtail w/Lima Beans, Gator Bites, Curried Goat to name a few. It was a fun experience and we were glad we had Free Tickets to get in!

THOUGHT OF THE WEEK

"But if we must keep trusting God for something that hasn't happened yet, it teaches us to wait patiently and confidently."
